Baptist Colleges To Open Soon

Mississippi Baptists' four colleges will begin their 1966-1967 terms in September with a promising outlook, according to reports from them carried below in this issue of the Baptist Record.

These are Blue Mountain College, Blue Mountain; Clarke Memorial College, Newton; William Carey College, Hattiesburg and Mississippi College, Clinton.

In addition to these a bright look is also observed from the Gilfoyle School of Nursing at Baptist Hospital in Jackson, the fifth of the denomination's five educational institutions.

"On To College" Day will be observed in many churches in the state Sunday, August 28 when the students who will be attending schools or colleges will be recognized by the churches.

In many instances the young people will conduct the Sunday evening worship service as well as participate in other special activities.

In addition to the five educational institutions owned by the denomination many Baptist students will attend one of the other colleges or schools in the state.

In practically everyone of these there is a Baptist Student Union under direction of a Baptist Student director which seeks to help tie the student onto the local Baptist church or one of those in cases where there are several.

Rev. Ralph B. Wenders, Jackson, is secretary of the Department of Student Work of the State Convention Board. A directory of all local Student Unions is carried elsewhere in this issue of the paper.

Mississippi College

Mississippi College, the largest of Mississippi Baptists' educational institutions, swings open its doors for the 141st time on September 12 with assurance of another banner year in the making.

As in the past years, enrollment will be up, new facilities will be in use, additional courses will be offered and an increased and more learned faculty will be on hand to offer quality instruction.

The fall session will officially begin on Sunday, September 11, with the arrival of all freshmen and a small contingent of upperclass students and transfers. Residence halls for the newcomers will open at 1 p.m. Faculty hosts and student guides will be on duty to assist and welcome the entering collegians.

Freshmen will begin their orientation on Monday, September 12, followed by registration on Tuesday, September 13. Transfers, upperclass and fulltime graduate students will begin registering on Wednesday, September 14.

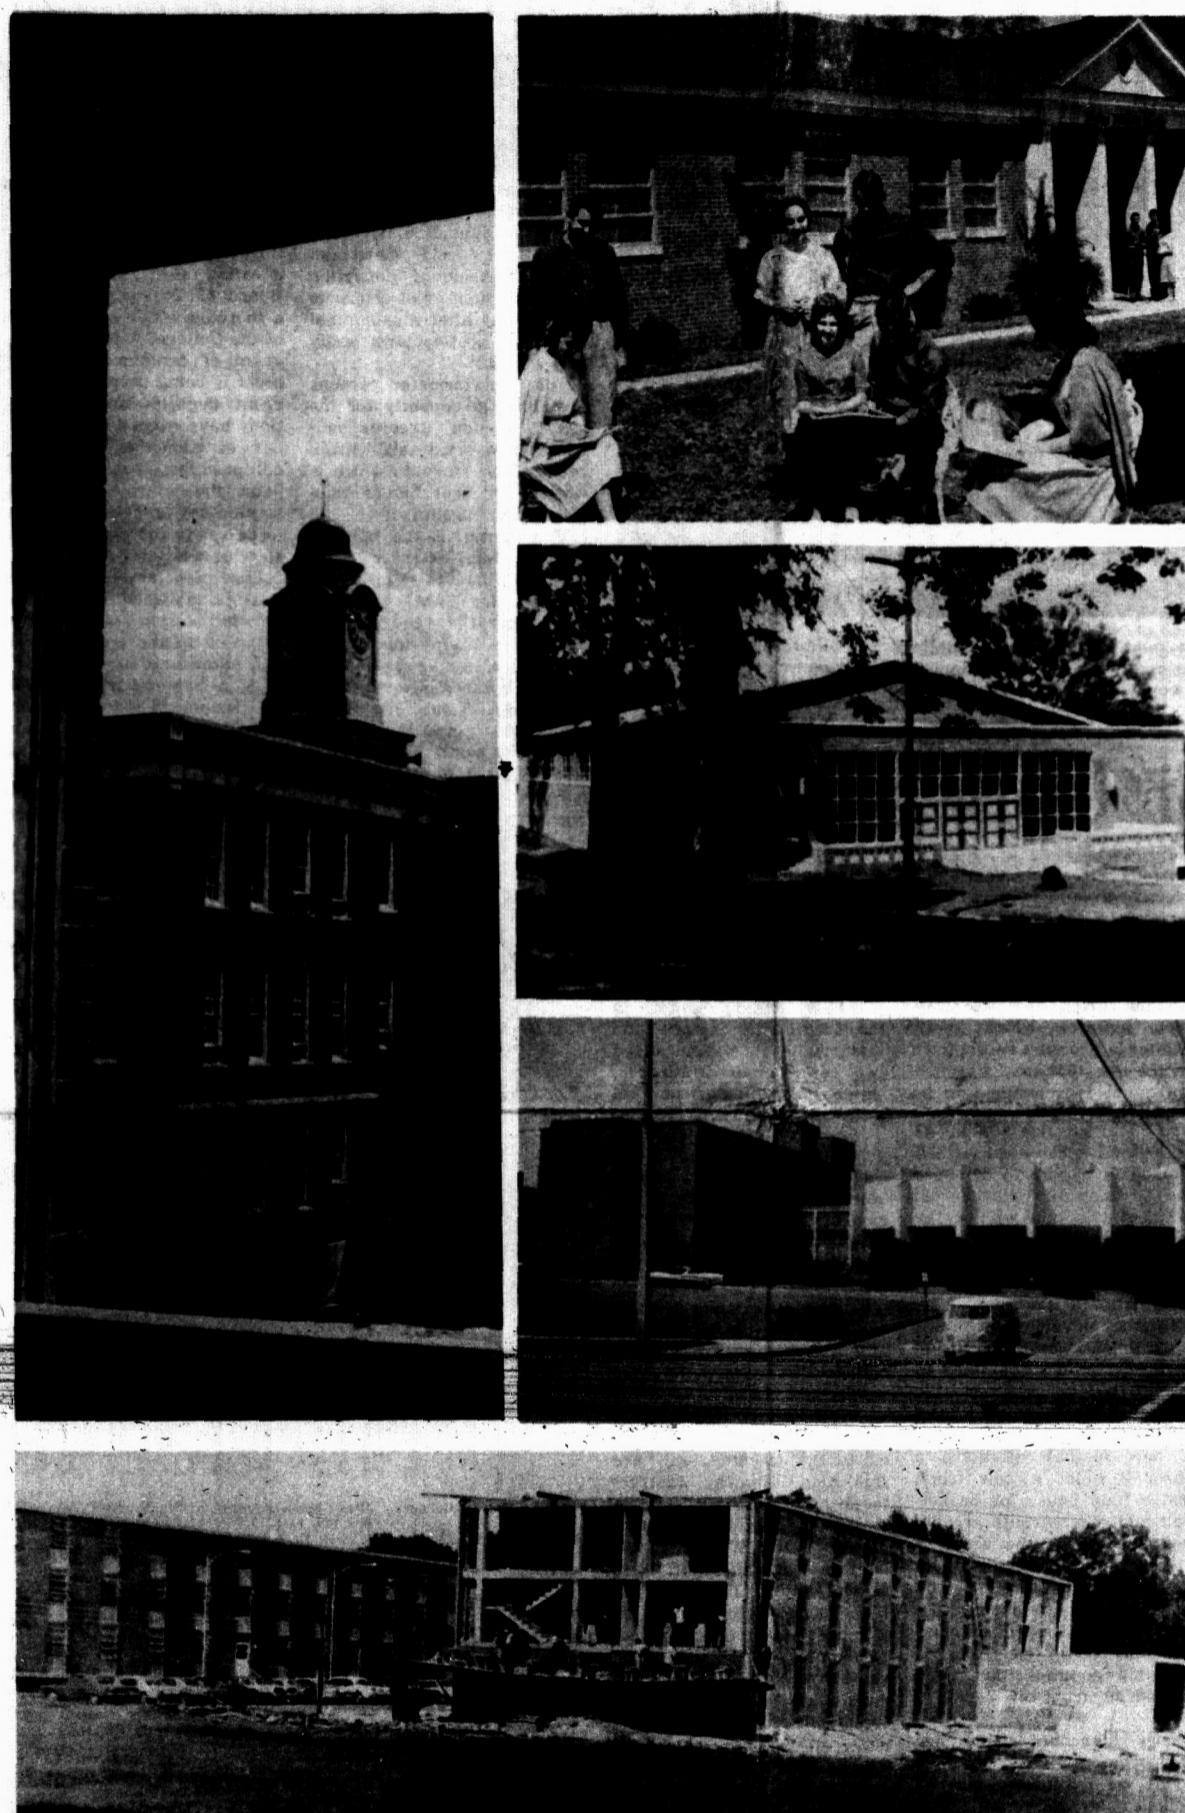

Classes will meet on a reduced schedule for the first time on Thursday, September 15, with Friday designated as the first full day of academic work on the regular schedule.

William Carey College

William Carey College faces the 1966-67 school year with an expanded plant, an enlarged faculty, and an expected enrollment increase.

Beginning the 11th year under the presidential leadership of Dr. J. Ralph Nookster, William Carey College opens its doors on September 11 to new students, both freshmen and transfer, who will arrive from all over the state. A week of orientation and testing will initiate them into the atmosphere and program of the campus. Classes will formally begin on Monday, September 19.

New Buildings

Two new buildings of modern design will have been completed by the opening of school. The Thomas Fine Arts Center and Wheeler Bryant Hall for Men will be the 8th and 10th buildings to be constructed and dedicated during the past ten years on the Carey campus. It is hoped that Opening Convocation can be held within the elegant new 1200 seat auditorium which is a major part of the Fine Arts Center. Furnishings for the auditorium have arrived and will be installed as soon as the elaborate structure of the stage loft has been completed. The loft was added to the original plans by the generous gifts of interested friends who wanted Carey College to have stage facilities equal to the finest for cultural and religious performances. It will be the largest stage of its kind in South Mississippi and will seat a full symphony orchestra.

Blue Mountain College

The ninety-fourth session of Blue Mountain College will open September 11, 1966, with a maximum on-campus enrollment. The administrative staff, faculty, and representatives from the Student Government Association are finalizing the plans for orientation and the welcoming of the new students.

The fall session will begin Sunday, September 11, when the dormitories are opened to freshmen and transfer students. The orientation schedule for all new students will begin Monday, September 12, and continue through Wednesday morning, September 14. Registration will begin for all students Wednesday, September 14. The session will officially open with a convocation Thursday, September 15, at 10:00 a.m. in the Modena Lowrey Berry Auditorium. Classes will begin on a reduced schedule Friday, September 16, and Saturday,

Guidelines Set For Crusades

RIDGECREST, N. C. (BP)

—The Southern Baptist Home Mission Board set up guidelines for its future participation in special crusades and campaigns.

The guidelines ask for advance planning, early involvement of the Mission agency, and cooperative budgeting procedures.

Fred B. Moseley of Atlanta, assistant executive secretary of the board said, "We encourage churches, associations, and state conventions to use the normal programs or channels in promoting crusades and campaigns.

"However, the board will consider participation in special crusades and campaigns in pioneer areas in cooperation with state conventions under these guidelines."

A special crusade just closed in Puerto Rico, another is planned for Dayton, Ohio, and a five-year crusade is underway in the Northeast. All involve the Home Mission Board, in cooperation with state Baptist conventions.

The following conditions were established:

That special crusades and campaigns be undertaken normally after other means have been explored to secure such emphasis through regular programs.

That plans be developed far enough in advance to provide adequate time for scheduling and budgeting, normally 18 months will be required.

That the Home Mission Board be involved fully from the beginning in discussions regarding the areas, scope, organization, and date for such special crusades and campaigns.

That the budgeting of Home Mission Board funds be considered in the cooperative budget agreement conferences with state convention, to which appropriate representatives of Home Mission Board divisions and departments be invited to participate.

That an evaluation be made in advance as to the economy of the churches and missions in the area to conserve results of the proposed crusade or campaigns.

That an evaluation be made upon the completion of each crusade or campaign by the Home Mission Board as to the results achieved toward reaching objectives.

—That for purposes of communication, the Executive Committee, Southern Baptist Convention, be kept fully informed on crusades and campaigns involving other Southern Baptist Convention agencies and state conventions.

—That any special committee established to foster such crusades and campaigns be directly related to the Home Mission Board and that it be known as an advisory committee to the Home Mission Board and other participation bodies, and not as an advisory committee to the Southern Baptist Convention.

Interest Raise Sought

WASHINGTON (BP)—The interest rate on college housing loans, fixed last year at a ceiling of three per cent, would be lifted to the "going rate" by an amendment adopted in the United States Senate.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. Jacob Javits (R., N. Y.), sets the interest rate at the "going rate" which the Senator says now is approximately 4 1/4 or 4 1/2 percent.

The amendment was a part of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1966 which passed the Senate. A similar housing bill in the House of Representatives has not come up for action.

The "going rate" of interest is based upon the average rate on all federal indebtedness, plus one-quarter of one percent.

Some controversy exists over whether church-related schools should accept government loans. A number of Baptist schools have received college housing loans from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The interest rate, fixed at the "going rate," is considered by some to be a government subsidy, since it is lower than what is available elsewhere. The three percent ceiling (Continued on Page 5)

24 SBC Churches Give Over $500,000

NASHVILLE (BP)

Twenty-one churches in the Southern Baptist Convention received more than half-a-million dollars last year in contributions from their members.

A tabulation listing the denomination's leading churches in total giving was released here by the research and statistics department of the SBC Sunday School Board.

The list also indicated the amounts each of the leading churches gave to missions.

Another tabulation listed SBC churches with more than $3 million in church property value.

The 13,538-member First Baptist Church of Dallas led the convention in all three categories.

Reported as the largest church in the convention only a week earlier, the big Dallas church listed contributions totaling $1,507,805 last year, missions gifts of $568,669, and property valued at $7,100,000.

Of the 21 churches with gifts exceeding $500,000 last year, nine are in Texas, three each in Georgia and Louisiana, two in Alabama, and one each in South Carolina, Tennessee, Oklahoma, and Virginia.

A similar statistical report issued a year ago listed only 15 churches with contributions surpassing $500,000. The number this year is believed to be a record.

In property valuation, seven churches in Texas reported property valued in excess of $3 million, as did two in Louisiana.

Laymen's Group Plan Abandoned

DALLAS (RNS)—Plans to establish a new organization for Texas Southern Baptist laymen have been abandoned, according to Carr P. Collins, Sr., of Dallas, who originated the proposal.

Asked by newsmen for any late developments in his plans for a laymen's group, he said, "That's not being activated now."

He said "what's being discussed now is that the convention (Baptist General Convention of Texas) appoint a committee of 100 to study Baptist affairs and institutions and see if they would make any recommendations."

Mr. Collins had suggested in June that about 100 Baptist laymen call a statewide meeting to form the Texas Baptist Laymen's Association. He maintained that under existing organizations, laymen "have very limited opportunity to contribute work or time."

GLORIETA MANAGER NAMED

NASHVILLE (BP)

Mark Short Jr. of Houston has been named manager of Glorieta (N.M.) Baptist Assembly, effective Nov. 1.

Short will succeed E. A. Herron, who will retire Oct. 31. Herron has served as manager of the assembly since it opened in 1952.

For the past year, Short has been minister of education at South Main Baptist Church, Houston. He held this position at First Baptist Church, Nashville, from 1951-68.

Industrial Chaplaincy Strengthened

RIDGECREST, N. C. (BP)—The Southern Baptist Home Mission Board has expanded the division of chaplaincy staff to strengthen a program aimed at establishing chaplaincy ministries in industrial settings.

Lowell F. Sodeman of Winston-Salem, N. C., was appointed to direct the new emphasis on industrial chaplaincy, which previously was combined with institutional work under the leadership of T. E. Carter.

Carter will now devote full time to institutional chaplaincy, directing his efforts at prisons, schools and other institutions.

The organizational changes were announced at the mid-year board of directors meeting of the Home Mission Board, which met at Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly.

Sodeman, previously chaplain to students at North Carolina Baptist Hospital, will work to interest industrial executives in the establishment of volunteer or paid chaplaincy programs.

He is a graduate of Wake Forest College (Baptist) in Winston-Salem and he attended Duke University's Divinity School in Durham, N. C., and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville. He also studied on the undergraduate level at William Jewell College in Liberty, Mo., and Chowan College in Murfreesboro, N. C. Both are Baptist schools.

HISTORIC CHAPEL—One of the most photographed buildings in central Mississippi is the historic Old Chapel located in the center of the Mississippi College campus. This eye catching shot, complete with moon in the upper left, has been requested by a number of the former grads.

its first contest of a 10-game slate, with Henderson (Ark.) State College coming to Robinson Field for a 7:30 p.m. battle.

Registration

Registration for both freshmen and upperclass students will take place in the B. C. Rogers Student Center. Once tration has now become a relatively short process since the installation of a 1620 IBM computer and other equipment several years ago.

Freshmen registration will begin at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, while upperclassmen will file through the procedure starting at 8 a.m. on Wednesday.

Students enrolling in the Evening School program will register on Thursday evening, September 15, starting at 6:30 p.m. in the student center.

Evening School

The Evening School program, fast gaining in popularity, is conducted for the benefit of those who find it necessary to work during the day, but who desire a college education. A student may earn a degree through the Evening School. Two students finished their work in the program this past May, completing all of their work through night or Saturday classes.

Also aiding in the speedier registration process will be a more effective identification method. Through use of a specially adapted Polaroid camera—capable of turning out a picture every 10 seconds—the students will have their picture taken at the start of the registration line, with the finished ID card, laminated and validated by the business office, ready for them by the time they reach the last station in the line.

The stepped-up registration program will be especially advantageous in view of the fact that the college Admissions Office records indicate that there will be a 10 percent or better increase in new students. As of August 1 the figures show that a total of 602 new students have made application for admission.

Record Enrollment

During the 12-month session which ended earlier this month, the college population continued its upward trend, with 2,734 individual students taking advantage of the educational opportunities offered by Mississippi Baptists' old and largest college. These students came from 70 of the 82 Mississippi counties, from 30 states and five foreign countries.

The 2,734 figure was a new all-time high for the college, exceeding the 2,580 set during the 1965-66 school session. A state-by-state breakdown showed that 87 percent of the student body were from Mississippi communities, a credit to both the college and to Mississippi Baptists.

Further study of the record enrollment revealed that 80 percent of the students were members of the Baptist denomination. The remaining 20 percent were distributed among over 20 other denominations.

Ground is scheduled to be placed second in point of numbers.

Church Related Vocations

Of the total number of Baptist students, over 400 were preparing for church-related vocations, including 160 for the preaching ministry, 38 for the music ministry, and the remainder for religious education, home and foreign mission service, medical missions, youth directors, student directors and other related fields.

These students participated actively in the work of the Baptist denomination, with 53 serving as student summer missionaries in fields throughout the continental United States, plus Jamaica, Puerto Rico and Peru. In other areas of Christian service, a large number served on the staff of Ridgecrest and Goliad assemblies.

A host of others served on student revival teams throughout the state and the South and in various leadership positions in the churches of the same general area. During the school year 75 teams, involving over 300 students, visited churches over the state presenting the gospel in message and song.

Each new academic session brings changes, additions and renovations to the college's physical appearance. This year will be no exception.

Building Expansion

The most extensive project to be undertaken during the summer months was the complete renovation and air-conditioning of the central section of Ratliff Hall, a men's residence. The center interior portion was completely demolished and rebuilt. Each of the new rooms will accommodate two men and will be furnished with the latest in dormitory equipment. The renovation gives the college another first-class men's residence.

Another major project on campus during the summer months has been the construction of a $75,000 president's home. The new home, given to the college by Mr. R. M. Hendrick of Jackson, is located on a bluff overlooking the campus just south of Highway 80.

The new facility, scheduled for completion by the opening of school, will include spacious living room and dining areas, large den with woodburning fireplace, four bedrooms, a study, three bathrooms, a breakfast room, kitchen and a huge rear screened porch.

The grounds will incorporate an old spring and other historic features which made Clinton a booming resort town in the late 1800's.

Ground is scheduled to be placed second in point of numbers.

Athletic Complex

In other development plans, preliminary work has begun on a new athletic complex to be situated on the west side of the campus on what used to be the old Latimer farm.

A new football stadium, a baseball field, a new track and a field house for basketball and other events are being planned for the area.

Several of the older buildings on campus have received facelifting jobs during the summer months. The interior of many have been painted and new columns have been placed in front of Jennings Hall.

New bleachers and other improvements have also been made on Robinson Field as college officials anticipate record attendance at the Choctawh's five home games this season.

New Courses

New courses are always a must for any college seeking to keep up with the times. In attempting to provide a curriculum that would best serve the needs of the present day student, several new courses have been added to the Mississippi College offerings for the coming year.

In the Division of Religion, a course in Religious Education titled "Field Guidance in Church Administration" has been added. This course is designed to help the student in his experience of church leadership to plan his work thoroughly, provide help in meeting his problems, and lead him to evaluate his achievements.

The Division of Business and Economics will have one new course among its offerings. Add Miss. College Hd. Co. 435, a course concerned with the planning and application of accounting systems with particular emphasis on electronic data processing machinery has been added.

Two new courses have been included in the sociology curriculum in the Division of Social Sciences. Sociology 407, dealing with American minorities, and Sociology 411, a study of human relations in industry and the professions from the standpoint of the ecological and socio-psychological factors involved, are now available.

The department of math in the Division of Science and Mathematics has also added two new courses—Math 106, which deals with Fortran Programming, and Math 107.

A new graduate level program leading to an Advanced Counselor's Certificate is also now a part of the college curriculum. It allows a person to get 30 semester hours in addition to the masters degree.

Several newcomers have been added to the faculty and administrative staff as the college looks toward the 1967 session.

New Faculty Members

New faculty members added to the teaching staff are Bob Alan Dunaway, Instructor in art; Donnie Daniels, instructor in business and economics; Mrs. W. W. Clark, instructor in education; Miss Grace Smith, instructor in home economics; Mrs. A. N. Hopkins, instructor in Home Economics; Miss Julia Hanna, instructor in music; Bernard Blackwell, assistant professor of physical education and admissions counselor; Edwin Hewlett, instructor in English and dean of men; and Robert P. Peters, assistant professor of history.

Added to the administrative staff are Lineul Jayroe, acting Director of Admissions and Jimmy Morrison, admissions counselor.

Names as graduate assistants in English were Denny Britt, Sammy Makamson and Mrs. Joan Willis. Serving as assistants in history will be Daryl Bolster and Mrs. Mary P. Brooks, while J. C. Spencer will work as a graduate assistant in the graduate school.

Layman's Group

sel in formulating and executing (state) convention policies.

It was reported that the proposal had met with much opposition from state Baptist executives who are ministers. One of the most outspoken critics was Dr. E. S. James, editor of the Baptist Standard, official news weekly of the state convention.

In an editorial, he wrote that "if there is anything of which Texas Baptists have too much now, it is organization."

Instead of forming a separate group, he urged laymen to support and make their views known through existing Southern Baptist agencies.

Blue Mountain College

dependent upon the faculty. Blue Mountain College has been fortunate to maintain an outstanding faculty which is committed to the finest principles of Christian Education. The following addition to the college faculty will strengthen the academic program: Miss Feriel Forbes, Instructor in Dramatics and Speech; Mrs. Joanne V. Hawks, Assistant Professor of Social Science; Miss Betty Price, Assistant Director of Admissions and Alumnae Secretary; Miss Eugene Ray, Assistant Professor of English; and Mrs. Sadie Lee Wells, Assistant Professor of English.

were Mississippians. There were 383 enrolled during the regular session, 301 enrolled in the summer session, and 158 elementary teachers and administrators enrolled for the 1966 Workshop for Elementary Teachers. All but thirteen members of the 1966 graduating class were Mississippians.

The campus also reflects the efforts of the staff to provide the best facilities for the students. Since July 1965 Lowell, Hearn, Jennings, and Whitfield Dormitories have been renovated. The administration building is in the process of being renovated. The first floor has been painted, rewired and new furniture and equipment has been purchased. The second and third floors will be completed by the opening of school which will provide adequate classroom facilities and offices for administrators and the faculty.

Returning to the College after a year's leave of absence for doctoral study will be William N. Washburn, who has been appointed Acting Dean of the College, and Miss Johnnie Armstrong, Chairman of the Department of Health and Physical Education. Dr. Mosele Ashford, Chairman of the Division of Education and Psychology will return to the campus after a sabbatical leave for post-doctoral study and travel.

The dormitories on campus are filled to capacity for the 1966-67 session. Records indicate an approximate enrollment of 380 students which is twelve per cent higher than the 1965-66 enrollment.

The theme of the opening session for 1966-67, "Blue Mountain College—The Best is Yet to Be," was projected throughout the year and became a reality as the College had one of the best years in its ninety-three year history.

The 1965-66 enrollment was the largest since the College became a four year institution. A total of 841 students enrolled in Blue Mountain College for credit of which 72.3% were awarded for the 1966-67 session by the Trustees of the scholarship program. The Wilfred C. Tyler Scholarship and the Hutchins Scholarship were also awarded this fall.

We at Blue Mountain College anticipate another outstanding year during 1966-67. Realizing that it is through Him we gain purpose, perspective, and power the faculty and staff will continue to build and to provide a quality program of Christian Higher Education at Blue Mountain College.

Inauguration Set For Cothen

SHAWNEE, Okla. (BP)—Grady C. Cothen, Oklahoma Baptist University's tenth president, will formally inaugurate here Nov. 5.

Cothen, who has been at the college post since July 1, will be honored in connection with the school's annual homecoming activities, Nov. 4-5. The inauguration will be held in Potter Auditorium of Raley Chapel at 11 a. m.

A luncheon will follow for representatives of academic communities and other dignitaries.

Cothen is a former Mississippian.

Roberts Receives Theology Diploma

Rev. Hollis Roberts, pastor of North Columbia Church, recently received the Diploma of Theology at New Orleans Seminary. An earlier report in the Baptist Record had erroneously reported him as receiving a B.D. degree.

THE BAPTIST RECORD 3

students will also be met by major renovation work that has been done during the summer. Tatum Court, the oldest existing building, has undergone major changes. Its auditorium has been converted into two large classrooms and a small chapel. The entire third floor has been made into faculty offices and classrooms. It was formerly occupied by the Fine Arts Department who will now move to their new building.

The College's two oldest dormitories, Johnson and Ross Halls, have been painted and freshened on both the inside and outside.

Faculty and Staff

Two new deans are among the fifteen additions to the faculty and staff for the 1966-67 school year. Dr. Wayne Alford arrived July 15 to become Dean of Instruction and D. C. Martin, scheduled to receive the doctorate from New Orleans Seminary in the very near future, began his duties as Dean of Students on August 1. Other additions have already been publicized individually. Some will be replacements while a large number will be filling new positions created by the needs of a growing campus.

Dr. Don Stewart, chairman of the Department of Biblical Studies, will be in charge of the Carey chapel services each week during the new year. All assemblies, school rallies, and outside speakers will occupy other times in the schedule. In addition to Dr. Stewart's regular devotional hour, the Fine Arts Department will be in charge of regular music presentations of a worshipful nature for chapel hours.

Library Development

Library development is a projected emphasis for the coming year. Under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Duncan, librarian, Rouse Library will continue to be stocked with new research and reference books of valuable nature to both students and faculty alike.

The recognition of the distinct Christian nature of William Carey College as an institution of higher learning is acutely felt as each new year begins. It is the prayer of the entire administration and staff that the approximately 800 students who will live and study on the Carey College campus in the coming months will feel the unique presence of "the Source of all wisdom." It is hoped that they will sense a positive Christian atmosphere in the classroom and dormitory as well as in the BSU.

To this end they join the feelings of their namesake, William Carey of England and India, who said, "Expect great things from God; attempt great things for God."

Those who know of the large contribution Clarke has made in the areas of music and speech, in spite of limited facilities, will rejoice in the prospect of having on the campus a modern, attractive and adequate building for instruction in these areas. Students will be greatly benefited by provision for instruction in voice, piano, organ, chorus, conducting, speech, dramatics and at a later date courses in art.

Dormitories will open for new students on Sunday afternoon, September 4. Monday and Tuesday will be given to orientation of new students, testing, and counseling. The registration will be on Wednesday, September 7, with sophomores registering in the morning and freshmen, sub-collegiate and special students in the afternoon. Classes begin at 8 a. m. on Thursday and the first general assembly will be at 10:30 that day.

New Business Manager

Christian Education

What is the future of Christian education? What is the future of Christian education in Mississippi?

A person would have to be a prophet and see in order to answer those questions.

The whole educational program of the nation is changing so rapidly, that one would not dare predict what will be happening fifty, twenty-five or even ten years hence.

All higher education is undergoing change. College and University campuses are far different from what they were even a few years ago. The student bodies are much larger; the curriculums have vastly expanded; the physical equipment has grown tremendously; costs have sky-rocketed; and, finally, the government, both state and federal, has entered deeper and deeper into the educational field.

The new developments have caused serious problems for most denominational colleges, and Christian leaders earnestly are seeking solutions to those problems, and answers to the needs of the Christian institutions.

Here in Mississippi two important convention committees are studying Christian education. One is wrestling with the problem of church - state relationships, while the other is seeking to take a long look at the whole Mississippi educational program. At the same time Southern Baptists have a special committee called BEST (Baptist Education Study Task) which is making a two year study of Christian education as it is being supported by Southern Baptists. It is too early to predict what suggestions or ideas may come from these committees.

One thing we can be sure of, and that is that Christian education will continue. It has too large a place in the whole educational program to be discarded. Changes may come, as we are sure they will, emphasis may change, the whole concept of Christian education may take on a new appearance, but Christian education there will be. This is both because of the place that it has in the hearts of Christian people, and also because there still is a definite need for education with a Christian emphasis, in the midst of all of the other educational concepts of this modern day.

Meanwhile, Christian education continues to be a major emphasis for Mississippi Baptists. No state in the convention has a larger proportionate investment in Christian education, or institutions which are doing a finer job.

Our four colleges and Nurses Training School rank with the very best in their particular fields. Never have they rendered finer service to the denomination, the state, and to young people than they will provide in the new terms they are about to begin.

A Pinch Of Salt

If all the oceans should dry up, there would be enough salt to cover the entire United States with a layer over a mile deep! But salt was not so plentiful in Jesus' day when he taught his disciples, "Ye are the salt of the earth." It was so scarce that the men in "Caesar's army were partially paid with salt, or solarium, from which comes our word salary. So to say a fellow is worth his salt means he's worth his pay.

Note three characteristics of salt:

(1) It is of no value unless scattered. When salt is kept in the shaker, it draws dampness and soon hardens. Only as it is sprinkled on tomatoes, corn-on-the-cob, and watermelon does it do any good. Likewise, one's faith means little unless shared with others. To keep our faith shut up within the four walls of our churches is the best way to harden ourselves to the needs of those on the outside.

(2) Salt doesn't call attention to itself. When sprinkled on food, salt brings out the natural flavor, so that one is hardly aware the salt has been added. This is what John the Baptist meant when he said of Jesus, "He must increase, but I must decrease." If we are the true salt of the earth, our lives make the world aware of the best that is in Christ, rather than the good that is within us.

(3) Only a small amount is needed. Ever get anything too salty? That's even worse than no salt at all, because the briny taste makes it almost inedible. We complain that we don't have enough faith—but Jesus said faith the size of a grain of mustard seed could move a mountain. We complain we have so little influence for good—yet Jesus compared our Christian witness to a few grains of salt. It is not so much the magnitude of one's faith, one's talents, one's witness, as the fact that one has any faith at all, any talent at all, any influence at all.

So don't call out any army of Christian soldiers the next time you have a problem. Sprinkle a little salt, the salt of Christian influence!

RUTLEDGE SAYS CHURCH MUST BE ACTIVE BETWEEN SUNDAYS

RIDGECREST, N. C. (BP)—"Unless the church is active between Sundays, we may become merely caretakers of a heritage given to us by others," a leading Southern Baptist missions executive said here.

A. B. Rutledge, executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, Atlanta, was the major speaker for the annual Southern Baptist Woman's Missionary Union conference at Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly.

Speaking to about 3,000 women, Rutledge said that churches must recapture their purpose, re-emphasize the role of the layman, and respond to the spiritual, moral and social needs at their very doors.

Dramatic theme interpretations accenting world peace closed the nightly worship services at the WMU Conference here. Theme for the meeting was, "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee."

Gideons Report
Record Bible
Distribution

ST. LOUIS (RNS)—All-time records in Scripture distribution, membership, and funds received were reported here to Gideons International at its 57th convention. The records were announced to the 1,000 delegates by Clarence H. Gilkey, president, and Richard Bradley, treasurer.

"During the year ending June 30, more than 45 million Bibles and Testaments were distributed by Gideons throughout the world," Mr. Gilkey said in his presidential report. "All the indications now are that 1967-68 will be our first 'five million year,'" he said.

Actual figures contained in the presidential report showed 4,644,075 Bibles and Scripture portions distributed, representing a gain of nearly $60,000 in the past year—$2,600,000 in the United States, 276,000 in Canada, and 1,770,000 in other nations where the international brotherhood operates.

Gideons International is an association of Protestant laymen which operates in 75 countries. It seeks to promote religious faith by distributing Bibles in schools, hospitals, prisons, and places of public accommodations. Gideons Bibles are also given to military and veterans.

All of the institutions have outstanding faculties, splendid physical equipment and, broad curriculums, and all of them expect to see record enrollments this year.

Mississippi's Baptist educational institutions are positively Christian, but also, are strong in their scholastic standing. Students who attend any of these institutions, will be getting the finest type of training, but also will have a plus...the plus of a Christian atmosphere and a Christian emphasis.

We salute all of these institutions as they begin the new year, and the more than 4500 young people who will be enrolled in them. We think this will be a good year, both for the institutions and for the students.

The New Literature

We have been asked to give an appraisal of the new Sunday School literature which will be offered for Young People and Adult departments, beginning with the new Sunday school year, October 1.

Until now, we have been unable to answer the request for we had not seen the new materials, but only a prospectus of them.

Now we have in our hands the complete set of the materials, and our first impression, as we have scanned through the new quarterlies, is that we like it very much. We believe that churches will do well to try the new series, for we believe that it will fill Bible study needs in an even better way than the old literature has done.

This does not mean that we are critical of the old series, for we are not. Those lessons have been splendid, and have made a glorious contribution in Bible study for people, not only of our own denomination, but also for people around the world. They have been Bible centered, and as the lessons have been written for use in our Baptist churches, they have provided an outstanding program of Bible study. They will continue to serve well, for the Sunday School Board will continue to provide this material for those who prefer it.

At the same time, there long has been a feeling that Southern Baptists should have a graded type of Bible study for young people and adults, with lessons which were Bible centered, but also had a definite purpose and goal in specific areas of teaching and training as related to our churches and Christian living.

For many years graded series of lessons have been available for all departments of our Sunday schools, except young people and adults. Thousands of churches use these series and have found them most profitable.

A number of years ago committees of Southern Baptists and of the Sunday School Board began to study and develop a new series for the denomination. Decision was made to center the teaching in what came to be called a "Life and Work Curriculum". It meant the relating of the teaching to the lives of Christian people and the work of the churches. Decision also was made to correlate the Sunday school lessons with the Training Union program, and with the WMU, Brotherhood and music emphasis. Years of study and work went into the preparation, and now the materials are ready for use in the churches.

The Sunday school lesson series is already programmed for several years ahead. The first six months, will be a survey study of "The Story of Redemption," with the first three months looking at redemption as revealed in the Old Testament, and the second quarter at redemption as revealed in the New Testament. The third quarter will be a study of "Our Lord and His Church", while the last quarter of this first year will study "Our Church in Today's World". In 1967-68, three months will be given to a study of Worship, three of the Book of Hebrews, and six to "Learning for Life and Work". In 1968-69 studies will be in the Gospel and its Proclamation, the World Mission of the Church, the Ministry of Love, and the Meaning of Discipleship. The plan offers a tremendous amount of serious Bible study in areas relating to Christian living and Church work.

In the new Training Union materials for the first quarter Adults will study "How to Study the Bible" for two months, and "How to Pray" for one month. Young People will study "How to Study the Bible" and "Personal Commitment".

The prepared materials appear to be unusually excellent. There are five Bible Study quarterlies for Sunday School pupils. They are Senior Adults, Adults, Young Adults, Young Married People and Young People. Each of these is a fifth page guide, well written by outstanding Southern Baptist writers, with numerous helps for real Bible study, fitted to the needs of the particular age group.

There is an Adult Bible Teaching Guide, and a Young People's Bible Teaching Guide. Each of these is a 178 page quarterly, with Bible exposition, teaching plans, and numerous suggestions for teaching various types of classes. We have not seen more complete material for use in preparation to teach.

In addition to these quarterlies, the Sunday School Board already has prepared the Life and Work Lesson Annual for the entire year. Here are additional materials, page after page of them, to assist the teacher and the pupils in Bible study.

The material is attractive in format, and thorough in content. We believe that it is going to stimulate a new interest in Bible study, and make that study more effective and more profitable than ever before.

This new Bible study is Southern Baptist in origin, Southern Baptist in projected purpose, and Southern Baptist in preparation. It will meet a specific need of our churches and people, and because it definitely is prepared for our own denomination's use, it can and will give emphasis in Bible study which might not be possible in the old studies which were scheduled for general use by many groups.

The Sunday School Board has given the churches outstanding service in preparation of Bible study materials in the past, and it continues to maintain those same high standards in this new material. We think it is most worthy of consideration by every church.

We have not yet come to final decision as to whether we can use the new lessons in the Baptist Record. If we can find a writer, who can and will provide the materials in brief, concise form we probably will do so. We hope to be able to carry both series for at least the present. Announcement will be made concerning final decision, before churches begin to use the new Series Oct. 1.

It was the privilege of the editor and his wife, on July 23 and 24, to participate in the 75th Anniversary celebration of the East Baptist Church, Paducah, Ky., where he served as pastor for more than ten years during the early years of his ministry.

It was a time of happy fellowship, rich memories, tinges of heart because of missing faces, and renewal of relationships with many wonderful friends of days gone by. It also brought contact with the new generation which shares in leading the church today. More than 23 years have passed since we left that field to come to Mississippi, but the ties are still close, and the blessings of this anniversary observance were many indeed.

Two things in this experience greatly impressed us. One was recalling the faith of the men and women who formed the church in the beginning, and the other was the faith of those who have kept the church ministering so effectively through three-quarters of a century. The anniversary observance pointed up both of these things.

How could a church be started in 1891? There were no automobiles, no electricity in the community, no electric street cars, no telephones, no typewriters, no mimeographs (what would the modern church do?), no recorders, no public address systems, no radio, no television, no Sunday School Board (it has just been authorized a few weeks before), no denominational loan funds, and few of the many other things which we count so essential in modern church work.

Yet, the Baptist people of that day, found a way. There were some preachers who knew they had been called of God to preach the gospel; they had in their hands the Bible which they believed and preached; they had a conviction that all men were lost and needed to be saved; they believed that every community should have a Baptist church. They found a family which was willing for a revival meeting to be held in its yard, and some Baptists and others who agreed to come and help. They got hold of some chairs, or more likely, made some wooden benches, set up a pulpit, and began to sing and preach the gospel. They prayed and visited. People began to attend and some were saved. One night a group of those present came forward to form a Baptist church, and today its ministry has spanned 75 years. Those noble souls who started the church already have gone on to glory, but the church lives on, stronger today than ever before in its history, and ministering to multitudes of people in its city. There is no reason that it will not continue to do so until the Lord returns.

What a witness the church has given. It has preached the gospel, it has taught the Word of God, it has enlisted people, it has ministered to its own membership, and to multitudes outside its fold, in days of adversity it has helped the needy, and truly has been a haven of refuge to many souls. It has greatly enlarged its property and erected new buildings to meet growing needs. At the same time, it has had world vision, and faithfully supported world missions through the Cooperative Program. It has continually worked with the association, with other churches in the city, and with the state and national conventions. It has sought to give a spiritual, Bible centered ministry to its own people and to others of the community.

Today, after 75 years, the church stands stronger than ever before. It is a great church, faithful in its loyalty to Christ, sound in its doctrinal position, and fervent in its evangelistic program. It was a pleasure to go back and see the wonderful things God has accomplished, and is accomplishing today, through this congregation.

Our visit to Paducah made us realize anew, the importance of recognizing history, and observing anniversaries. They keep the historical record fresh in the minds of the people, and inform new generations of God's work in the past. Moreover, they challenge to new goals and new purposes for the future. Every church should mark its anniversaries, especially the important milestones, and let them become stepping stones to greater things.

Gilfoyle School

(Continued from Page 1) has as its purpose the guiding of capable young women through an educational experience that will enable them to develop the beginning skills necessary to become professional practitioners of nursing and responsible and contributing members of society. A further purpose is to provide opportunities for spiritual experiences that will enrich the student's relationship with God.

The school maintains affiliation for instruction in the physical sciences, social sciences and communication skills at Hinds Junior College and in psychiatric nursing at Mississippi State Hospital.

The curriculum of the school is designed to give nine months of academic preparation in pre-nursing courses at Hinds Junior College followed by twenty-seven months of instruction in the nursing care of medical, surgical, pediatric, maternal, and mentally ill patients. The school faculty implements the philosophy that sound nursing education policies are best fulfilled in the patient care area where adequate time is allotted for clinical practice concurrent with classroom instruction.

The three years of nursing school are not all work and no play. Recreational, social, and spiritual programs are built on student participation and leadership. Social activities of the school of nursing are an integral part of its program.

A full time B. S. U. Director and two hospital Chaplains direct the religious activities of the school. The purpose of these activities is to enrich the spiritual life of the nursing students during their three years at Gilfoyle School of Nursing.

INTEREST RATE SOUGHT

The Jayits amendment would authorize $300 million for college housing loans for the current fiscal year and $300 million for each of the next two fiscal years.

"The reason I am making this effort is that the agency responsible for the administration of funds for college housing . . . is really out of money," the Senator stated.

He explained that at the high cost of money now the government cannot afford to lend money at the low fixed rate of three percent. Further, he said that previous authorization for funds was canceled after passage of the Participation Sales Act of 1966 which was viewed as bringing in about $800 million to the agency.

(Under the Participation Sales Act of 1966 an investor would buy participations, or shares, in "pools" of assets acquired from the various government lending programs. The government would continue to hold title to the property in the "pool" loans.

The investor would buy shares in the interest and principal due on the loan, making his profits come from the interest paid on the loans.)

Sen. Javits stated that the anticipated money for college housing from the Participation Sales Act is not coming in, because of the low interest rate, and that money is not available for loans for the current fiscal year.

Since January 31, 1966 the agency has taken no applications for college housing loans, and the pending applications prior to that date total about $300 million, he said.

Refugee Center Seeks Donations Of Clothing

MIAMI (BP) — The Baptist Refugee Relief Center here has issued an urgent appeal for clothing, one of the provisions that affords the center an opportunity with a Christian witness to many Cuban refugees.

Hubert O. Hurt, missionary to language groups in Florida, said the flow of refugees has stepped up to about 1,000 a week, double the figure reported earlier this year.

The clothing room, which is supplied by donations, has been drained by the increased pace, he said.

About 15 new families seek help from the center each week.

"Most of these refugees arrive with almost no personal possessions, so such emergency help means much to them and provides an entree for us to help them with their spiritual as well as material needs," Hurt said.

The center also has helped resettle more than 2,070 Cuban individuals, working through Baptist churches that volunteer to sponsor refugee families.

Donations (of any type clothing) should be sent to the center, 1452 N. W. 36 Street in Miami, Hurt said.

WILLIAM CAREY COLLEGE librarian, Mrs. Ruth Duncan, inspects some of the 1000 new books acquired by Rouse Library during the past month. Student assistant, Pat Clements, helps catalogue them for immediate use by faculty and students alike. Library development is a definite project for the 1966-67 school year.

Brotherhood

World Missions Conference

In keeping with the first and second Brotherhood Tasks:

1. Teach missions to all men, young men, and boys.
2. Lead all men, young men, and boys to participate in mission activities.

We are planning a World Missions Conference which will be held at Camp Garaway, Clinton, Mississippi, September 17-18, 1966.

This is the first missions conference for Mississippi Baptists promoted and directed by the Brotherhood Department.

The program will begin Saturday morning at nine o'clock with registration and will terminate with the noonday meal Sunday. The program time will be divided between discussion periods, under the direction of missionaries on furlough, and special features dealing with Foreign, Home and State Missions. The Saturday night feature will deal with our participation and involvement as Baptist Men in Missions.

Someone asked a question recently, "who may come to this conference?" Our answer is, "All Mississippi Baptists are welcome". We are particularly interested in men, women and young men who have places of responsible leadership in their churches.

The cost is nominal in fact $5.50 will take care of all expenses including insurance.

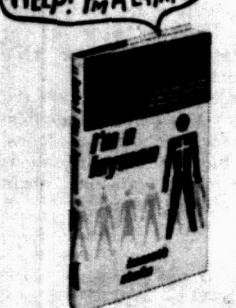

Registration forms are being mailed to pastors and Brotherhood presidents. If you need additional forms please let us know.

Former State Man To Coordinate Appelman Meets

Chaplain James A. Bryant, Colonel U. S. Army, retired, has been appointed as Campaigns Coordinator for the revival campaigns conducted by Evangelist Hyman Appelman, effective July 18, 1966.

Chaplain "Jim" as he is called by his friends, is a native of Crystal Springs, Miss., and is well known in this state. His family lived in Crystal Springs during World War II while he was serving overseas.

Dr. Hyman Appelman is a widely used Baptist evangelist, who also is well known in Mississippi. He reports that the increasing invitations from North America and many foreign lands for Appelman meetings have required help in programming.

Speaking concerning the appointment of Chaplain Bryant, Dr. Appelman said,

"Pastors and Churches in the great population centers are deeply concerned in our TOTAL MORAL EMERGENCY that we project a Crusade of TOTAL EVANGELISM. They will find valuable assistance in Colonel Bryant. He is qualified by education, experience and dedication.

He will give counsel and guidance in the appointment and work of the special committees required in great area-wide crusades. He knows how to involve and direct the Church organizations and personnel in TOTAL PREPARATION for EVANGELISM."

"Careful preparation, in a large measure, has been responsible for the record gatherings of souls in the Appelman Campaigns. Total Preparation for Evangelism includes: 1. Total Dedication. 2. Total Maturity. 3. Total Participation of Church Members. 4. Total Involvement of the population."

Chaplain "Jim" will arrange and direct the many engagements of Dr. Appelman outside the regular preaching engagements. These will include: School Assemblies, Newspaper Interviews, T.V. Appearances, Civil Clubs, Patriotic Meetings, etc. etc. He believes in Prayer and Work; that work without prayer is presumption and prayer without work is laziness.

Colonel Bryant may be contacted at Appelman Campaigns, 7339 Broadway, Kansas City, Mo. 64114.

Honesty In All Things

By Clifton J. Allen

Exodus 20:15; Amos 5:21-24;
8:4-5; Mark 12:38-40;
Luke 19:1-10; Titus 2:7-10

Each of the Ten Commandments speaks to basic area of personal responsibility. Behind each one there is the absolute authority of the almighty God.

The Eighth Commandment has to do with the sanctity of property. No person can rightly take what properly belongs to another person. Stealing is thus forbidden. The passages in our larger Bible lesson show the implications of this commandment for injustice and extortion and covetousness and unfaithful work. Human addiction to stealing springs from the selfishness of the unregenerate heart. Therefore, the deliverance must come through the salvation of Christ and his discipleship.

The Lesson Explained

THE EIGHTH

COMMANDMENT (Ex. 20:15)

"Thou shalt not steal." The right to property is sacred in the sight of God. Man was given dominion over the natural creation. He has a right to own property. That right is to be respected by other persons. It is, therefore, wrong to steal what rightfully belongs to someone else. The commandment not to steal is also designed to protect man against his own weakness and inclination to covetousness.

GREATER CONDEMNATION

(Amos 8:4-5; Mark 12:38-40)

The Eighth Commandment may be broken in many ways. Aside from open robbery, men steal by cheating, by fraud, by extortion, and by indifference to personal obligations. Transgression of this commandment was one of the foremost evils in Israel at the time of Amos. The rich swallowed up the needy in their lust for gain. They even begrimed the new moon and the sabbath, because these days called for the cessation of business and thus lessened the opportunity to rob the poor. Robbery was carried on by dishonest weights and measures and every kind of extortion, crushing helpless persons with cruel injustice and heartless exploitation.

Jesus encountered the same kind of greed and thievery during his earthly ministry. He denounced the hypocritical scribes, piously pretending to be zealous for religion, though actually given over to heartless greed. They prayed long prayers, but they robbed widows of their homes. Jesus declared that they would receive greater condemnation for their double wickedness—dishonesty plus hypocrisy.

CHRISTIAN EXAMPLE

(Titus 2:7-10)

Paul urged Titus himself to be an example of good works. Every Christian faces a holy obligation at this point. One's work is to be done with a good spirit, doing one's assigned task without arguing but co-operatively and diligently. And never is the work

THE BAPTIST RECORD

GUEST DAY AT CLARKE—President and Mrs. Lowrey Compre of Clarke College show campus activities to visitors during one of their guest days at the school.

Training Union

Hymnals For Gulfshore

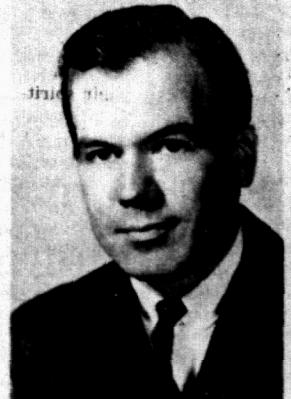

"We would like to make it possible for those who attended the first Training Union week at Gulfshore this year to join those who were present during the second and third weeks in helping Gulfshore Baptist Assembly purchase hymnals for use at the assembly," writes Kermitt S. King, state Training Union Director.

Money for more than 100 Baptist Hymnals for use at Gulfshore was voluntarily contributed by those attending the second and third Training Union weeks at Gulfshore this summer.

During the second week a check for $1,000 was donated to the assembly by a Jackson family in attendance. When the Assembly Manager, W. T. Douglas, suggested that he planned to apply this check toward the air conditioning of one of the barracks, the suggestion was offered by Mr. King that those attending might help supply the number of hymnals needed for more effective congregational singing.

Some individuals who attended during the second week sent back money for hymnals. Among these were, members of First Baptist Church, Starkville, who sent in a check for $20.00.

Those desiring to assist in this project may send checks ($2.00 per hymnal) to Mr. W. T. Douglas, Gulfshore Baptist Assembly, Pass Christian, Mississippi.

REV. ROBERT C. RAGLAND has accepted a call as pastor from the First Baptist Church in Louise. Having resigned from the Forkland Church in Winterville, Mr. Ragland assumed the pastorate at Louise on August 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Ragland are originally from Greenville.

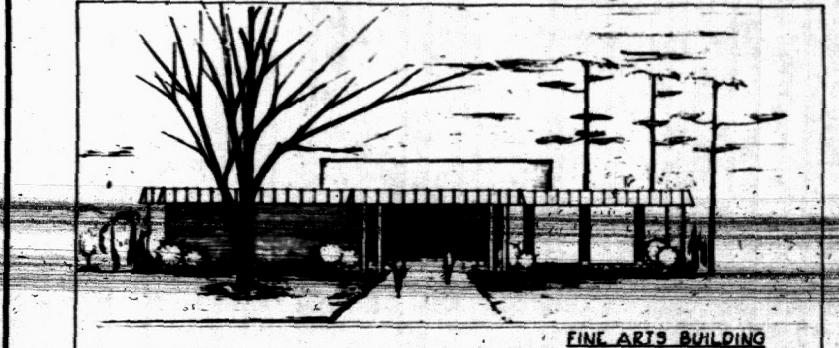

They have three children, two boys and one girl.

CLARKE MEMORIAL COLLEGE

$100,000 COMMITTED ON THIS BUILDING

The magnificent commitment of $100,000 on the Fine Arts Building made by Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lott, of Laurel, marks a truly significant milestone in the development of Clarke College and may signal a tremendous upsurge in support for both expansion and operation.

In providing half of the funds for the new building, these donors have expressed the desire that friends of the College will match this gift with a similar amount and thus provide the total needed for this attractive and useful building which will be under construction this fall.

A unique opportunity is thus presented for about 2,000 people who believe in the ministry of Clarke College to band together—each doing what he can—to match this most liberal gift. The commitments may be paid out over a period of five years, according to the convenience of the donors. But it would help so much to have the commitments made NOW.

The following chart will show how 2,000 people could provide this amount over a five-year period:

DEVOTION—

The Necessity Of Prayer

By J. D. Lundy, Supt. of Missions, Washington County
Ephesians 6:18a "Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit."

If Christians are to show forth the life of Christ they must pray.

It seems that the need is greater today than at any time in Christian history to show the world what it means to be a follower of Christ. We hear the cry on every hand that people today do not know what is right and wrong. There is a plea for a standard of conduct. We have that standard in Christ, and Christians have the responsibility to live in such a way as to present that standard before the world. This is impossible without a life of constant continuing prayer. Jesus set us an example even here. In Mark 1:35 we read "And in the morning, rising up a great while before day, he went out, and departed into a solitary place, and there prayed. Also in Luke 11:1 we are told of His praying. If our saviour needed to pray, how much more do we who are so weak and sinful need to pray.

If Christians are to live in the street-level of the world, we must pray:

"Lead us not into temptation but deliver us from the evil one." The outstanding need in the world today is for a demarcation line between the world and the church. Prayer draws that line. Christians who are faithful in prayer, private and corporate, will not be able to ignore God's standard of conduct and service. Christians who are living lives which conform to the world have ceased to pray. Those who really pray live lives that are really different to the world. How the world needs Christians today who hear and heed God's command "Come out from among them and be ye separate." We need dedicated separated Christians who live above the level of the common street of society. Christians who recognize the need for prayer and through prayer find God's will for every decision and every act of their lives. If we are to speak for the Lord, we must pray.

If our churches are to be the spiritual lighthouses they are meant to be, it will be because the members give much time to prayer, prayer for the pastors, for the teachers, for the leaders, for themselves as individual Christians. Our witness for Jesus must be of the spirit. Jesus said, "Tarry and pray" we seem to have tarried long with very little praying. Thus the world awaits our witness and salvation through Christ. Paul, in verses 19 and 20, requests prayer that he might be able to proclaim the gospel. If this great man of God needed the prayer of fellow Christians, what about our pastors today? How many of us are criticizing today when the great need is for prayer? How much of the failure to win the lost is the direct result of our failure to pray? Are the lost people of our day really any more lost than those in the day of Paul? Is it not true that our lack of power is caused by our neglect of prayer? Let us Pray

"The problem with our giving is that we give the widow's mite, but not with the widow's spirit."

You can usually find time to do the thing you want to do.

Everything that is worth while is up-grade.

To know what is right and not do it is almost as bad as doing wrong.

PEARLHAVEN CHURCH of Brookhaven honored its volunteer music director, Maurice Smith, during the week of August 8-12. The church paid all expenses for Mr. Smith and his family to attend the layman's and leader's Music Week at Gulfshore. Pictured are Mr. Smith receiving the reservation and expense check from the chairman of deacons, Freeman Peavey. Standing by are the church treasurer, Mr. Clemmie Smith, and co-treasurer, Billy Earl May, long time deacon of the church. Rev. Ralph E. Brady is pastor of the church.

Norway Considers New Church Laws

Free church groups in that nation will watch with great concern this autumn as the Norwegian Stortinget (Parliament) debates a new law before it proposing widespread changes in church-state relations.

Peder A. Eidberg of Stabekk-Oslo, European Baptist Press Service correspondent in Norway, reports the new legislation actually dates back to 1957.

In that year, the government appointed a committee to look into the whole matter of legislation affecting religious dissenters (those not affiliated with the Lutheran state church) and to prepare a draft of a new law. The committee submitted a 200-page report in June, 1952.

The new law would change the age at which a person, without parental consent, could transfer membership from one denomination to another. The proposal would also grant to every officially registered denomination a certain amount of money each year from the tax income of the state.

The part of the proposal which is causing the most debate, and stirring up the strongest feelings, concerns the question of allowing mem-

Churches In The News

A youth revival was held at Highland Church, Jackson, during the week of August 8-14. Rev. Clifford Nelson, pastor, Mt. Beulah Church, Brownsville, was the evangelist; William Watkins, Briarwood Church, directed the youth choir; Dale Palmer was youth pastor; three professors of faith and a number of dedications.

Fellowship Church in Pike County will close out its revival with a homecoming day on August 28, with dinner on the ground. In celebration of the Sixth Anniversary of the church organization, several of the former pastors have been invited to speak. The services will be at 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p. m. As a part of the program, the note on the recently built parsonage will be burned. Rev. Jerry Perrell is pastor of the Fellowship Church.

Suit Dropped Against Atlanta Stadium Liquor

ATLANTA (BP) — Efforts by a Baptist journalist and a Methodist layman to prevent mixed drink sales at the Atlanta Stadium have come to a close.

In the suit decided against an appeal of the latest decision in the case which upheld the constitutionality of operating within the stadium a private club which sells mixed drinks.

In announcing their decision to drop the case, the plaintiffs said that the latest decision by Judge Emeritus Jesse M. Wood of Fulton County Superior Court overthrew every contention upon which they had based their case.

bers of free churches to teach religion in the public schools, according to Mr. Eidberg.

Another proposal is related to this in the education field. It would eliminate present requirements that administrative personnel (as contrasted to teachers) in the schools be members of the state church.

The present law determining church-state relations was passed in 1891. In some measure, says Mr. Eidberg, the agitation of two Baptists during the 1870's helped bring this law into being. Dissatisfied with an earlier law, enacted in 1845, these men — one of them a member of the Stortinget — placed before the lawmaking body a revised law in 1878. It was rejected. — (EBPS.)

The part of the proposal which is causing the most debate, and stirring up the strongest feelings, concerns the question of allowing mem-

Cothen Speaks At Glorieta Meet

GLORIETA — Man should always find acceptance in the family of God, a Baptist university president told about 2,500 persons attending conferences Aug. 11-17 at Glorieta (N. M.) Baptist Assembly.

Dr. Grady C. Cothen, newly elected president of Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, led evening services for the Bible conference and five other conferences meeting here simultaneously.

"If there is any place in the world," he said, "where a person should find acceptance, it is in the family of God. They should find from every one of us complete acceptance."

Dr. Cothen said that there is no such thing as a perfect body of Christ on this earth.

"If there were," he explained, "they would not let you in it. If you were in it, the body would not be perfect, and it would not let me preach to it."

The love which this world needs, he said, does not have to be deserved, just as God's love expressed in Christian personality does not need to be deserved.

Two Unions Join BWA

Baptist groups in the United States and in the African country of Burundi have been received as members of the Baptist World Alliance, worldwide fellowship organization of this denomination.

The two groups are the General Association of General Baptists (USA) and the Baptist Union of Burundi. There are 65,000 members of the 800 churches of the General Baptists. The Burundi Union has 2,800 members in two churches and a number of missions.

This brings to 81 the number of unions in the Baptist World Alliance located in 70 countries. — (EBPS)
